PEACEPLUS Partnership
Girona Causeway Coastal Path

There are few places where history and landscape come together quite like the Girona Pathway.

Our Partnership recently visited the project site alongside Council's Capital Officer and Coast & Countryside team, taking time not just to review design progress, but to soak in the setting itself. It's impossible not to feel the weight of the stories held here.

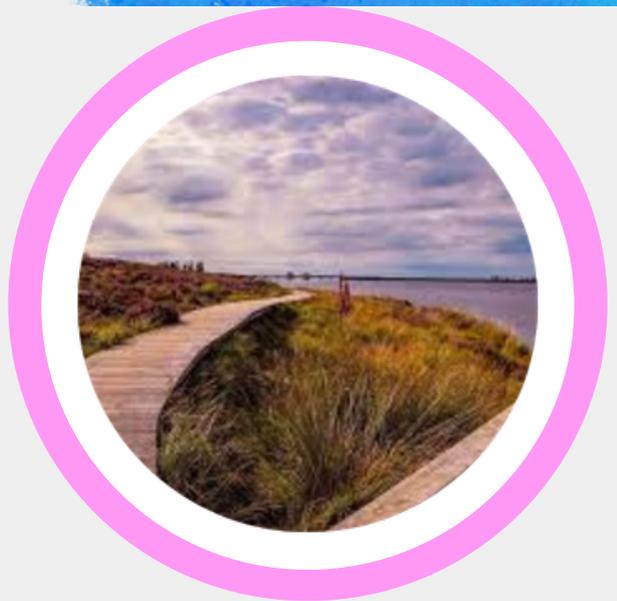

That's what this PEACEPLUS project will showcase - with both regeneration works and the public participant project thereafter.

The project will celebrate the local heritage - building confidence in sharing those stories and strengthening pride in place. It's about enjoying the journey as much as discovering the history beneath our feet.

Just offshore lie the waters where the Spanish Armada ship La Girona was wrecked in 1588 - a dramatic chapter in our shared coastal history. It's this powerful backdrop that will shape the heart of the programme. Using the stunning Causeway Coastal Path as a living classroom, participants will explore the layers of heritage woven through the area and its coastline. The walk itself is part of the experience, with a real sense of connection to those who walked here centuries before us.

We're excited to see this vision unfold and to welcome participants back onto one of the most breath-taking stretches of coastline. Find out more at:

Partnership Profile

About me

Roe Valley Residents Association (RVRA) is a community-led organisation based in Limavady, working to improve the quality of life for residents across the Roe Valley area. The Association supports local people through a range of social, educational and wellbeing initiatives designed to reduce isolation, strengthen community cohesion and promote inclusion. RVRA delivers programmes and activities for children, young people, families and older residents, including community events, capacity-building workshops and practical support initiatives that respond to identified local need.

The organisation works in partnership with statutory agencies, local groups and volunteers to ensure that services are accessible, responsive and reflective of community priorities. Through its work, RVRA aims to empower residents, build local skills and confidence, and create a safer, more connected neighbourhood. Its focus is on sustainable community development, ensuring that local facilities, opportunities and resources benefit those who live in the Roe Valley area.

My own 17 years of community development experience have shaped and strengthened this work, building trusted relationships, cross-sector partnerships and strategic insight that have naturally led to my involvement in the PEACEPLUS Programme, where I continue to advocate for inclusive, sustainable community investment.

Role in PEACEPLUS

As a Social Partner within the PEACEPLUS Programme, I wanted to play a key role in representing grassroots community interests and ensuring that local voices informed programme design and delivery. My on-the-ground knowledge of community need, particularly in areas experiencing social disadvantage, division or limited access to opportunity was able to be communicated. My role now will include supporting engagement and encouraging participation from under-represented groups.

Through PEACEPLUS, I hope to see meaningful and sustained investment that delivers measurable social impact and leaves a lasting legacy across all our local communities. This includes strengthened community relations, increased capacity within the voluntary sector, improved shared spaces, and long-term opportunities for collaboration. Ultimately, I want the programme to create safer, more connected and resilient communities where positive relationships continue well beyond the lifetime of the funding.
